

Notes 4.10 - Research Writing

When writing a research paper, you will need to back up your argument with support from other articles and researchers. This strengthens your argument and helps write your paper.

Things to remember:

- Have a system to keep the quote and the citation together.
- *Embedd the name of the author and the organization or website name to introduce the quote.
- Always use quotation marks around words that you are borrowing.

Example: